1. What are the checks on Parliamentary sovereignty in India? Do you think judicial activism poses a threat to the free working of Parliament? Justify your answer.

Parliamentary Sovereignty refers to the independent and autonomous nature of Parliament to legislate on matters of importance. Constitution of India provides parliamentary sovereignty through:

① Articles 246, 247: They mention the extent of application of Parliamentary laws throughout territory of India. ~~They also m~~

② Schedule 7 : Mentions subject list in which Parliament is competent to legislate.

Eg: Law & order → State subject ; international agreements → Union subject.

Checks on Parliamentary Sovereignty

① Judicial Review — Constitution empowers Supreme Court

AIR 1, CSE 2017

and High Court under Art. 13 and Art 226 respectively

(2) Public interest Litigation: public can approach courts to strike down unjust law.

Eg: Recent SC judgement scrapping NJAC act

(3) Parliamentary Committees such as public standing committee exercise effective control

(4) Discretionary power to president under Article 74 where he can send a bill back once, pocket veto, suspensive veto act as check

(5) Power of state representation in Rajya Sabha also checks brute majority of any party

Judicial Activism (JA) as threat - Yes

- JA violates Art 50 : Separation of powers
- It impinges on parliament's right given as per peoples mandate. Thus a threat to democracy
- Non expertise of judges
- JA often leads to 3rd chamber of legislature

Scanned by CamScanner

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY
AIR 1, CSE 2017

JA is not a threat, because:

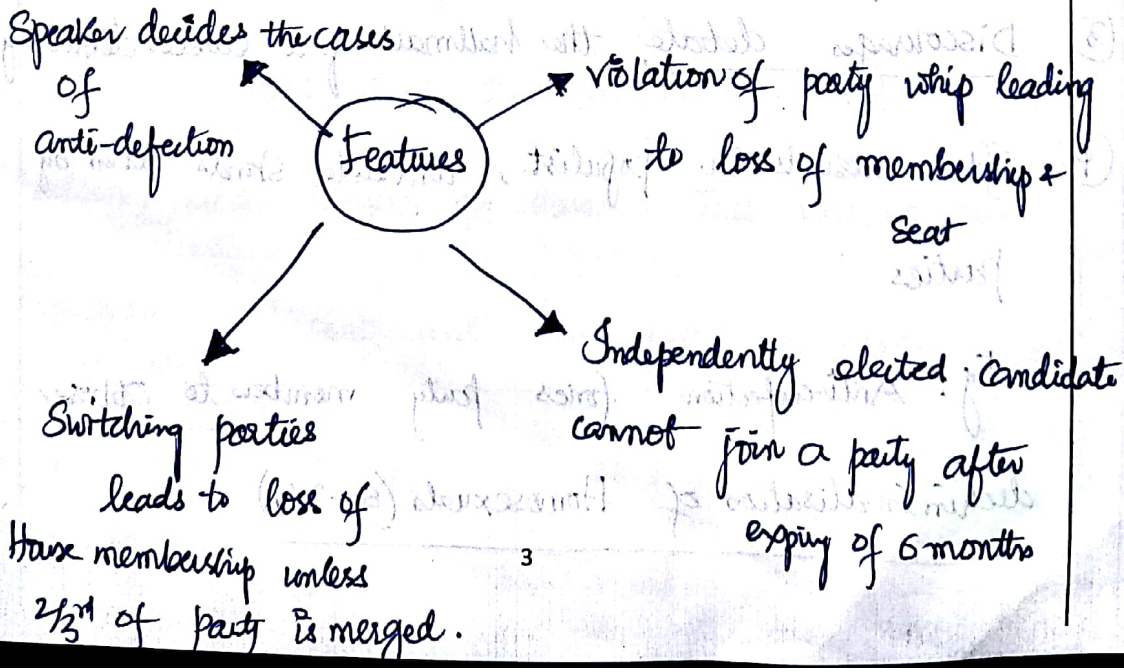

① JA is needed when executive, legislature fails to act in public interest

② JA upholds public interest, rights of minorities, Vishaka guidelines against sexual Harassment

To conclude, JA must be balanced with Parliamentary Sovereignty. They are two wheels on which Constitution runs Smoothly. "Role of judiciary must be of an alarm clock not a time keeper" (N.N. Palkivala)

2. "The anti- defection law not only sanctions party tyranny in the name of party discipline, but also curbs the legislator's right to dissent". Critically examine.

Schedule X of the Constitution provides for anti-defection law.

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY
AIR 1, CSE 2017

Anti-defection & party tyranny

1. It forces unnecessary authoritarianship on party members
2. It puts party interest over public interest
3. Forces all members to toe party line no matter their personal opinion
4. Thus in the name of party discipline, enforces tyranny

Anti-defection & dissent

1. The law goes against Free Speech guaranteed under Art 19 of Constitution.
2. Silencing of counter opinions
3. Discourages debate, the hallmark of a liberal democracy
4. Often results in populist, unviable stands taken by parties

Eg: Anti-defection forces party members to oppose decriminalisation of Homosexuals (Sec 377)

Scanned by CamScanner

But counterview, Saying Sch X is needed because it

① Checks opportunistic defection

② Promotes consistency in party stance

③ Reduces corruption, horse-trading

④ Protects against government collapses by Sudden loss in numbers.

⑤ Helps pass important legislations by mustering Strength

Thus Schedule X and anti-defection law has its positives and negatives. NCRWC under Venkatachaliah recommended to keep anti defection law only for important votes such as No-Confidence motion Budget motion, and remove for others. This way, we can balance dissent and inner party democracy.

3. Political democracy cannot last without economic and social democracy. What provisions in the Constitution facilitate the establishment of economic and social democracy in India? How far have they been achieved?

Political democracy means the right to exercise universal Suffrage, elect governments, express dissent and contest elections. It includes "govt of the people, by the people and for the people" (A. Lincoln)

Indian Constitution establishes not only Political democracy via (Art 325- universal Suffrage Art 243G- Panchayats etc.)
but also ~~economic~~ economic & Social democracy.

Economic democracy	Social democracy
(1) Preamble declares justic – economic, political and social	(1) Preamble provides for Social justice.
(2) Art (36-51) DPSP provide for • Right to humane work environment • Equal pay for equal work (men & women)	(2) DPSP mandates health, nutrition and education to all especially women children

③ Fundamental Right Art 19 (g) includes right to livelihood & profession

④ Art 21 (Right to life) includes right for a decent economic standard

⑤ Art 301 - gives right to inter-State commerce

⑥ ~~Art 30~~ Right to property

⑦ ~~Art 46~~ - State works toward economic betterment of SC/ST/ Weaker Sections

⑧ Art 15(4), 16(4) provides for reservation to vulnerable Sections such as women, children, OBC, ST

④ Art 338, 338A establishes National Commissions for SC, ST

⑤ Art. 243G, 243W call for empowerment of local bodies thus providing social democracy

⑥ Schedule V, VI establishes Tribes Advisory Council for autonomous regulation of Tribal areas.

Analysis

Positive

① Health, Education of vulnerable Sections have Considerably improved since independence

② PDS, ICDS, NREGA Schemes helped in economic redistribution

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY
AIR 1, CSE 2017

③ Panchayats, Tribal administration esp in North East led to political empowerment.

Negative ——— ① Still discrimination, oppression exists
② Ineffective implementation of schemes
③ After ~~liberation~~ liberalisation, inequality increased.

Thus, we need to ~~effectively~~ leverage technology, engage civil society and implement Social ~~Sector~~ Sector Schemes more effectively to achieve true social, economic democracy.

4. The application of technology in governance initiatives to check leakages on one hand, and the need to protect the right to privacy of citizens on the other, poses a unique challenge to policy makers. How far do you think these concerns are valid? Give arguments in support of your answer, providing suitable measures to address these concerns.

Technology in governance helps to check leakages in governance because it —

① eliminates middle men

② effective monitoring is possible

(Eg: End-to-End digitisation of PDS in Chattisgarh)

Scanned by CamScanner

③ reduces administrative cost.

(Eg: As per WB report, Aadhar led to ₹80,000 cr savings)

But at the same time there are concerns raised by respected civil society members such as Jean Dreze, Usha Ramanathan

Concerns on privacy

① Threat of State surveillance

② Using the data collected to use against vulnerable groups

③ curbing dissent

④ Technological challenge : Encryption

⑤ Cyber Security challenges - Risk of hacking of govt servers

Hence the concerns on privacy are very much valid and must be addressed.

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY
AIR 1, CSE 2017

Balancing technology & privacy

① To legislate a comprehensive Privacy law as suggested by A.P-Shah committee

② Right to privacy must include right to opt out of technological intervention

③ End to End encryption must be compulsory

④ Engaging civil society in formulating policy related to privacy

⑤ Providing for absolute security of data against hacking, breaches,

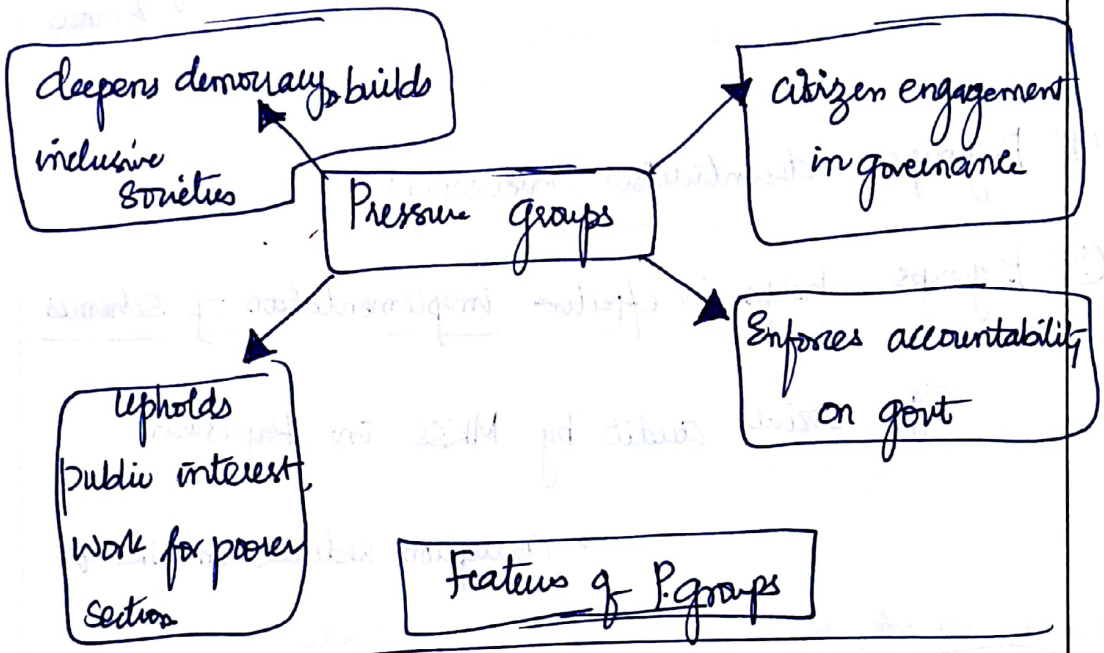

Thus, privacy and technology can be balanced for effective governance.

5. How do pressure groups influence the policies of the government? In the Indian context, do they have a democratization effect or are they mere promoters of narrow interests? Illustrate with suitable examples.

Pressure groups refer to collection of individuals who come together and work towards particular law/ action from the government.

Features of P. groups

Pressure groups (PG) and democratisation

① PG gives voice to the marginalised communities

Eg: In Orissa, NGO CGNet Swara fought for Khond tribals rights against land eviction by Vedanta in Niyamgiri hills

Scanned by CamScanner

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY
AIR 1, CSE 2017

② P.Groups agitates for peoples rights

③ P. groups checks against arbitrary legislation by fighting a PIL in Courts

Eg: Recent Right to privacy judgement of Apex Court is result of work by PUCL & Others

④ P. groups decentralises government

⑤ P. groups helps in effective implementation of Schemes

Eg: Social audit by MKSS in Rajasthan

→ Corruption reduced in NREGA

Pressure groups & Narrow Interests

① IB reports indicate pressure groups working to derail development projects Eg: Kudankulam protest

② Some groups such as Compassion international engaged in religious conversion of tribals

③ Lobbying by corporates lead to corruption

Eg: 2G Scam

Scanned by CamScanner

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY

④ Pressure Groups often put private interest over public interest.

Thus, P. Groups need to be streamlined by bringing a comprehensive legislation, bringing them under RTI and promoting transparency in their working. This way we can strengthen democracy.

6. Discuss the reasons behind the multiplicity of amendments to the Indian Constitution. Has it served its intended purpose? Critically examine.

Reasons for multiplicity of amendments

Economic:

① Changing nature of World's domestic economics.

Eg: GST amendment brought in recently

② To promote economic & redistributive justice

Eg: Sch. 9 to give primacy to DPSP over FR

Social:

① To give space to marginalised communities

Eg: Art 338, Art 338A brought in to establish National Commissions for SC/ST

② To ensure progressive legislation and rights

Eg: Role of Art 21 enlarged through SC judgements to include right to dignified life

③

Political:

(1) To deepen democracy and ensure participation

Eg: 73rd, 74th amendment to establish PRIs.

(2) To instill sense of pride and political duty towards nation.

Eg: 42nd amendment brought in Fundamental duties

Evaluation:

Positive impact	Negative impact
- Deepened democracy - Promoted social and economic justice - Continously adapted to evolving trends. - Led to a progressive inclusive society	• Sometimes amendments used arbitrarily to centralise power Eg: 42nd Amendment • Constitutional amendments such as NJAC struck down by Apex Court • Issue of tussle between Parliamentary Sovereignty and Judicial independence

7. The issue of judicial delays and backlogs has long been an issue plaguing the justice system in India. In the light of this, give an account of various alternate dispute redressal mechanisms available, and analyse their suitability and efficacy in reducing judicial delays and backlogs.

Indian judiciary is saddled with high pendency which can be seen from following facts:

① 12-15yr delay in adjudication (DAKSH Report)

② 45cr pending cases in lower court (Law Commission Report)

③ 65000 cases in Supreme Court alone

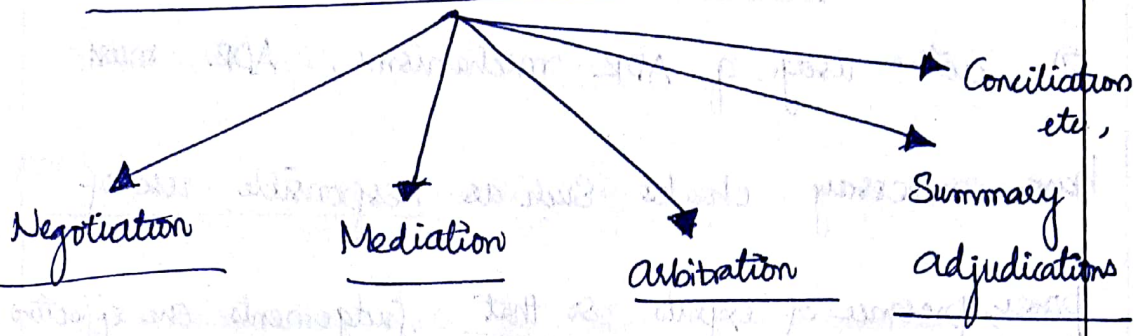

④ 20% judicial vacancy in lower courts.

Other problems in Judiciary are:

- delay in appointments
- lower judiciary corruption
- Issue of all India Judicial Service
- adjournments
- lack of technology in procedures
- Expensive justice (goes against free legal aid mandate of constitution)

Scanned by CamScanner

Various ADR mechanism available are:

Suitability to Indian context & Judicial delays

ADR can be effective instrument because:

1. It results in speedy justice
2. Lesser burden on Judiciary
3. Cheaper to access ADR
4. Judiciary can actually concentrate on imp. cases
5. ADR doesnot bound itself in rigid civil procedure code
6. Ensures justice mandate given as per Constitution.

Scanned by CamScanner

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY

2nd ARC and NCRWC have emphasized on active usage of ADR mechanisms. ADR must have necessary checks such as responsible use of power, presence of experts so that judgements are effective. Thus ADR can be very effective tool in reducing judicial backlogs.

8. Give an account of the status of the primary, secondary and tertiary healthcare sectors in India. How far do you think has the focus of our health policy been lopsided with an excessive focus on tertiary care? Give arguments to justify your answer.

Article 47 of the Constitution mandates the State for provision of effective healthcare to all.

Status of primary healthcare:

① Lack of healthcare professionals in rural areas

As per Lancet report, no. of doctors — 0.7/1000 people
WHO recommends — 2/1000 people

Scanned by CamScanner

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY
AIR 1, CSE 2017

② Poor infrastructure such as no beds, diagnostics, First aid equipment in PHCs.

③ Lack of hygiene practice knowledge among poor

④ Immunisation rate is still 75% (Bangladesh-93%)

⑤ Presence of dubious quacks, uncertified doctors

⑥ High out of pocket expenditure - 69%

⑦ Expenditure on Health - 1.5% of GDP (Thailand - 3.5%)

Status of Secondary & Tertiary healthcare

① Prevalence of Corruption in MCI (as given by Parliamentary Standing Committee)

② High Capitation fee by medical colleges

③ Lack of district hospitals in many districts.

④ Poor health insurance coverage esp among rural areas

⑤ High disease burden by sedentary diseases - Heart stroke, diabetes etc)

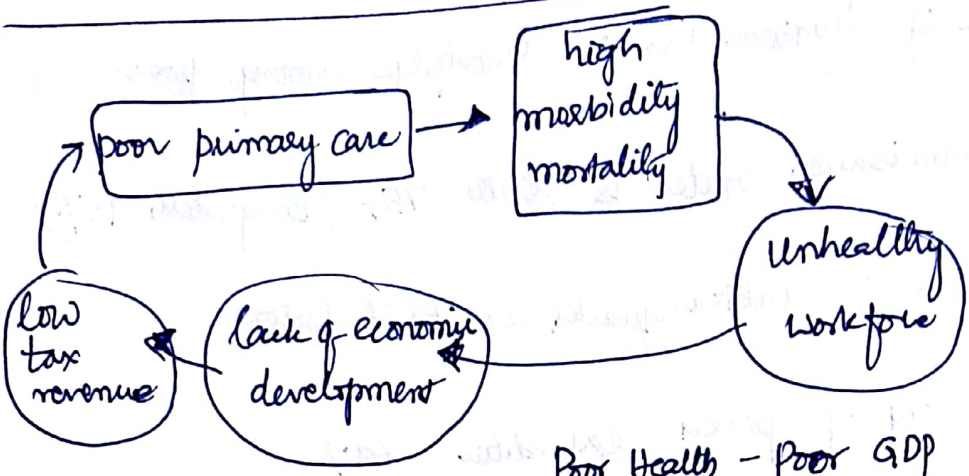

Focus on ~~Poor~~ Tertiary Sector

① AIIMs and other medical colleges were established after independence but primary care neglected

② Amartya Sen observes that this resulted in poor human development & drag down on economy

Poor Health - Poor GDP

③ Also hygiene practices such as cleaning hands, prohibiting Open defecation have not been given enough emphasis.

Way Ahead

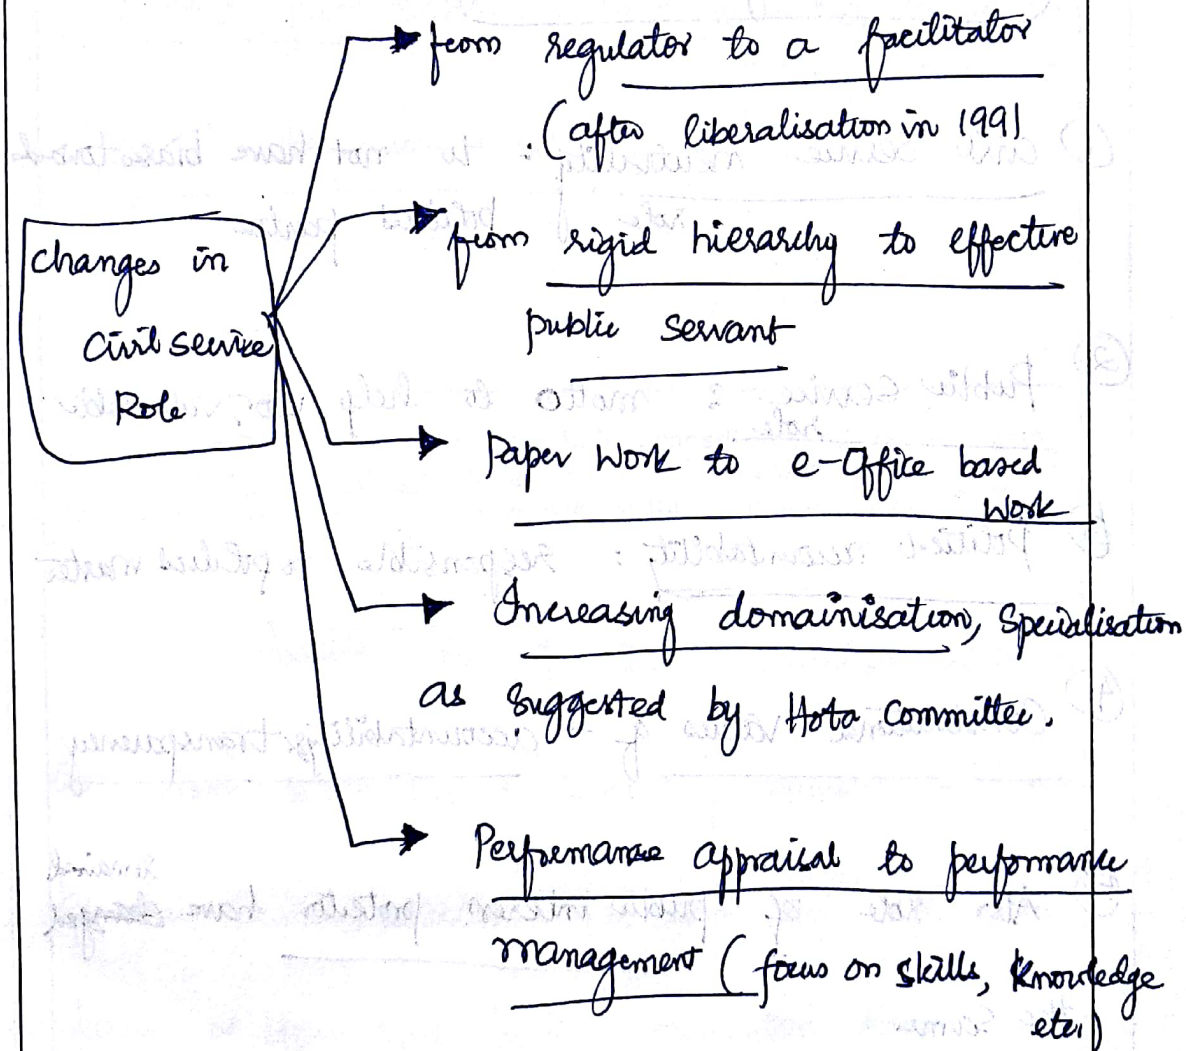

- National Health Policy plans to raise health exp to 2.5% of GDP
- Govt must increase funds to PHC infra- beds, equipments
- Train doctors to create dedicated rural workforce
- electronic Vaccine Network (eVIN), ASHAs must be strengthened so that primary healthcare is made effective and we realise mandate of Art 47 of Constitution.

9. The role of Civil Services in our democracy has seen a sea change since Independence. Give an account of the changing demands from the civil services in our democratic setup. Also, elaborate on the roles that have stayed constant through these years since Independence.

Article 312 of the Constitution establishes Civil Services as agents through whom executive implements their policies.

Changing demands

① Empowered & aware citizenry

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY

② Role of technology resulted in more accountability

Eg: RTI, citizen charter

③ Liberalisation, Globalisation led to changes

④

Roles that stayed constant

① civil service neutrality role : to not have biases towards politics parties

② Public service role : motto to help poor, vulnerable

③ Politics accountability : responsible to politics masters

④ Constitutional values of – accountability & transparency

⑤ Also role of public interest protector have remained the same

Way Forward

As 2nd ARC and Hota Committee have suggested, We need to strengthen training, establish Civil Service Board, draft a Code of ethics, and explore lateral entry on a pilot basis. These can result in an effective bureaucratic set up.

10. Unlike its British counterpart, the Indian constitution allows for a member of the Upper House (Rajya Sabha) to hold the office of the Prime Minister of the country. Does this provision go against the spirit of democracy? Examine.

Article 74 of the Constitution establishes that there shall be a Council of Ministers headed by the Prime Minister. PM can come either from Lower or Upper house and constitution doesnot impose any restriction.

Scanned by CamScanner

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY
AIR 1, CSE 2017

PM as member from upper house :

Goes against democracy because :

① Upper house doesnot represent mandate of people.

② Unlike in Britain, no restriction in India means an unpopular person can also become PM..

③ As member of upper house, such a PM cannot vote on money bills, budgets etc,

④ His authority on govt. is weakened

⑤ Such a set up leads to political instability, lack of leadership.

Argument against : not against democracy because

① Flexibility of constitution allowed for all eventualities

② Through this an eminent member (non-politician) can also become PM. Thus it promotes diversity.

Scanned by CamScanner

③ Such a PM will defend rights of states (since RS is council of states): Hence co-operative Federalism.

④ Democracy means opportunities for all and provision of inclusive society. Hence this practice is consistent.

Thus, provision of PM from RS is not against the spirit of democracy. ~~Some~~ our previous PM, Manmohan Singh, a phD scholar became PM because of this which would not have been possible otherwise.

11. Do you think the consent of the Chief Minister of the concerned state should be made essential for the appointment of the Governor? Give an account of Sarkaria commission's observations in this regard. Is the appointment of civil servants as Governors a healthy trend?

Article 153 establishes the office of Governor. He is appointed by the President on the advice of Union Council of Ministers. This has led to friction between Centre and States because:

1. Appointment of party loyalists as governors in State
2. Abuse of Art. 356 by summarily dismissing elected State governments.
   Eg: Recent conflict in Uttarkhand State
3. Reserving State bills for presidential assent: Art 201
4. Friction in day-to-day working between CM & governor.

Sarkaria Comm. observation

1. It held that office of Governor should not be politicised.

Scanned by CamScanner

ANUDEEP DURISHETTY

② Governor must be from outside state

③ He must not be actively involved in state politics before.

④ An eminent person in some walk of life.

⑤ The Commission also observed that Art 356 must be used sparingly, CM be consulted before appointment.

The same view was upheld by Punchhi Commission on centre-state relations. To strengthen governor's office: appointment, tenure and impeachment must be codified and amended on the lines of President's tenure and appointment.

Further SR Bommai guidelines in use of Art 356 must be made into a law.

12. The 'Citizen' in Citizen Charter is a misnomer. Comment

Citizen charter is a document that specifies rights & obligations of citizen & government respectively.

Scanned by CamScanner

But Citizen Charter Suffers from anamolies as observed in 2nd ARC :

① Citizen charters are couched in Vague language

② No legal enforcement of service standards

③ Does not penalise errant officers.

④ Faulty Grievance Redressal Mechanisms

⑤ No Feedback taken from public before drafting

⑥ Not updated frequently.

Thus 'citizen' is often missing from citizen charters.

But there are positive examples such as

① Citizen charters in tax department ensured (IT)

③ Update them frequently

④ Penalising errant officers.

This way we can bring 'citizen' back to the centre of citizen charter.

Article 324 of the Constitution establishes EC to exercise Superintendence over elections to President, VP, Parliament & State Legislature assemblies.

RPA, 1956 is the act that empowers EC.

EC & free & Fair elections

1. EC checks false affidavits
2. Enforces model code of conduct to check populism
3. Acts against paid news, electoral Corruption
4. enforces Expenditure ceiling limit

Thus EC and RPA form cornerstone of free & fair elections.

But there are problems in current set up, such as:

① rising level of political corruption; black money in election

② Criminalisation of politics, politicisation of criminals.

③ According to ADR — 33% of MPs : criminal antecedent

80% of members of LS are Crorepatis

④ Doubts raised on independence of EC

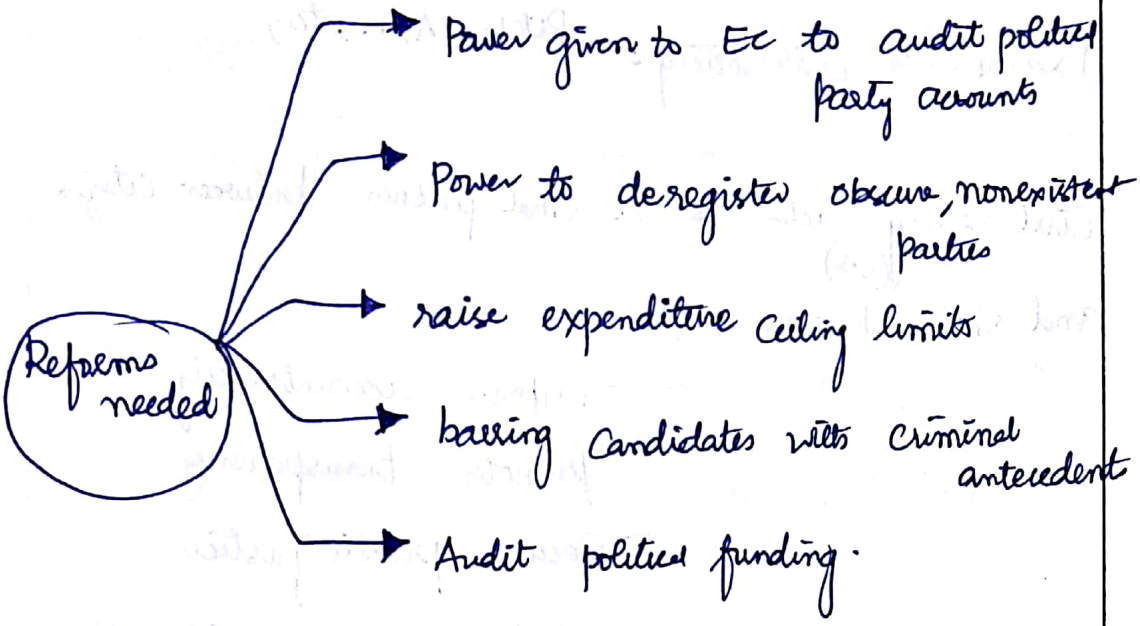

Eg: by AAP party recently

⑤ Huge burden, rising fake news, proliferation of parties, obscure party funding

⑥ Bureaucracy transferred before elections & loyal bureaucrats are placed.

In this regard, write a note on the role that Civil Society plays in strengthening democracy. Does Civil Society always serve the cause of democracy? Justify your answer.
